

The Joseph Interfaith Foundation

United in a Vision for Truth

“INTRODUCTION TO SOCIAL CULTURE OF BRITAIN”

This project is a free training course for young refugees aged 16-26 regardless of their country of origin, religion or gender.

The sessions will be in English with some translation, Refreshments are provided and travelling expenses are reimbursed.

The project was launched during Inter Faith Week 2016 at the House of Lords. Lord Bourne of Aberystwyth, Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, gave the opening remarks and is strongly supportive of the project. He said:

“The work of the Joseph Interfaith Foundation is very important for interfaith relations in this country. This is an excellent and necessary project for the young refugees and I congratulate the Foundation for initiating it.”

The project is partly funded by the Department for Communities and Local Government.

Some of our young people through no fault of their own may not be fully familiar with the full range of the principles of British laws and regulations.

The project aims to assist the young participants to become more familiar with concepts such as respect for the rule of law and equality before the law, parliamentary democracy, religious equality and community cohesion in this country. The project also aims to support the participants to realize their full potential as citizens in the UK.

Finally, the project also aims to empower the participants to build resilience against being misled through misunderstanding and misinformation, and support them to integrate more easily and successfully into the local community and wider society.
